

I've known Charles for many years. When I was a teenager, we used to play basketball together. Then we played in the same rock band for three years. He was the best left-handed guitar player I'd ever heard!

He never mentioned his family. He had a son but they stopped seeing each other the day Charles remarried. He had cheated on his new wife a couple of times. Of course, she had found out and she decided to leave him.

He didn't have a lot of friends. Most people were interested in his money and he knew it. I'd say he was rather lonely.

Charles was a real estate promoter. All I know is that Charles intended to build luxury apartments in Greets Green Park. He recently signed a contract with the mayor. If you want to know more about it, you should ask the mayor.

I went to his place at around 3p.m. He looked worried. I asked him if there was something wrong. He said the construction site caused him problems and that he had an appointment with the mayor at 4 p.m. to discuss it. I had a drink or two, and then I left for the airport at about 4pm.

At the time he was killed, I was in Italy. You can ask the plane company.

I went to Italy for business. I'm a football team manager, I was looking for a great defender, but I didn't find him. I'm the manager of the West Bromwich Albion team.